To whom it may concern,

When Natalie Page with RD Fresh did a test on our Walk-In cooler, I was skeptical. But after noticing a drop of 5 degrees in our walk-in; less humidity and produce lasting 2 to 3 times longer than normal, I was sold!

We placed a case of cilantro open in the cooler as a test. After 2 weeks it was still fresh and showed no signs of yellowing.

The compress has been cycling off for the first time in years. And this was after adding another 40 sq ft of space and not increasing the compressor or evaporator size. It actually cycled on and off in the mornings.
